

FICHA ALUMNO/A

You've just created a channel on the latest social network!

Before you start posting, you should complete your profile with what makes you special. Once you have it, you should think about what you like to do most, to know what kind of posts you will share, and then, reflect on those things you would like to learn or do in the future, accepting suggestions that you would like to follow.

My channel name:

My profile (what I like and what defines me):

Type of publications (what I want to share):

Suggestions to follow:

My top 3 things I would never follow are:

When you're not uploading content to your channel, who do you like to spend time with?
